Milam's First Bale Of Cotton Ginned

J. D. Black of Jones Prairie produced the first 1953 bale of cotton to be ginned in Milam County. Black's bale was ginned at the John Matyastik Gin in Clarkson at 5 p. m. Monday. The Cameron Chamber of Commerce offered no first-bale premium this year.

Ted Ford of the Baileyville community also brought in a bale of cotton Monday. His bale was ginned at the Wolf & Son Gin in Rosebud at 3 p. m. The Rosebud Chamber of Commerce gave him a $100 bonus.

Black started picking Monday morning and brought 1,795 pounds of bollies cotton to the Matyastik gin late Monday afternoon. His bale weighed 420 pounds, with 790 pounds of seed. His bale was not sold at press time.

Ford also began picking early Monday morning and brought 1,550 pounds of seed cotton to the Wolf & Son gin about 2:30 p. m. The bale weighed 503 pounds with 1050 pounds of seed. T. R. Depew paid 36 cents a pound for the lint. Wolf & Son ginned the bale free and bought the seed at $85 a ton. The cotton variety was Empire.

Milam Named 4 Star County For Fiscal Year 1952

Milam County is a Four Star County for 1952, the East Texas Chamber of Commerce recently announced. The East-Tex Chamber awards merit stars on six points, of which Milam County fulfilled four.

The purposes for which stars were awarded to Milam County are:

1. All funds ended the year with a cash balance. Counties ending the year with an overdrawn fund are denied this star unless the fund owns sufficient marketable securities to cover the overdraft.

2. The 1952 operating fund tax rate was not above the state average of $0.71. Milam County's 1952 operating fund tax rate was $0.625.

The annual cost of operations for Milam County is $5.35 per person. The average county in the state operates at a cost of $6.62 per person and the average East Texas County operates at $6.39 per person.

3. The ratio of net debt to 1952 county assessed valuation was not above the state average of 3.02 percent. Milam County's debt ratio on Dec. 31 1952 was only 0.35 percent.

4. The net debt ner capita was not above the state average of $28.13 per person. Milam County's net debt per person on December 31, 1952 was $3.03.

This compares very favorably with East Texas counties as the average per capita net debt of all East Texas Chamber of Commerce counties amounts to $31.49.

Milam County was not awarded stars on the following two points:

1. The county did not operate within its 1952 budget. Milam County's 1952 budget anticipated $348,989.24 for expenses while actual expenses amounted to $420,694.23.

2. A star is awarded to counties which collect 95 percent or more of the current 1951 tax roll and/or 100 percent of this roll including delinquent collections for the tax year ended June 30, 1952. Milam County's current percentage was 88.38 percent and total percentage was 91.44 percent.

Milam County's 1953 expense budget is $371,987.29.

The Milam County Tax Survey for the fiscal year ended December 31, 1952 was compiled by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Cameron Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Ninnie LaGrone of Milano Killed While Crossing Highway 79

Mrs. Ninnie Springer LaGrone, 71, of Milano sustained fatal injuries Monday night when she was struck by a car on U. S. Highway 79. This was Milam County's second traffic fatality of the year.

Mrs. LaGrone had attended revival services at the Milano Baptist Church and was driven home about 9:45 p. m. by a friend, Charlie Williams. According to Williams, she waited at the side of the road for two automobiles to pass before starting across to her house. As she crossed the highway, apparently unaware of the oncoming car, she was struck by a 1951 Buick, driven west by Clyde Alvin Stokes of Evant.

Highway Patrolman John Blansit said that skid marks left by the Stokes car indicated that the vehicle was traveling at between 40 and 50 mph.

Mrs. LaGrone was dead on arrival at Richards Clinic in Rockdale. She was taken to the clinic in a Phillips and Luckey ambulance.

In addition to Patrolman Blansit, Sheriff Carl C. Black, Patrolman Worth Modesett and Dr. Kenneth Berg, evangelist at the Milano Baptist Church revival, were on the scene.

Stokes had been to Brenham to a cattle sale and was on his way to Hamilton. A truckload of cattle, purchased at the sale, was following his car.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Milano Baptist Church. Burial will be in Milano Cemetery. The body will remain at Phillips and Luckey Funeral Home until the funeral hour.

Cameron, Rosebud Little Leaguers Each Win Game Thursday

Cameron Little Leaguers played two very interesting ball games at Rosebud Thursday night. An appreciative crowd of parents and interested fans were present to give the boys a boost.

The first game was regulation Little League baseball between teams of boys 10, 11 and 12 years old. Star hitter of this game was Archie Mraz who hit two doubles and a home run at four times at bat.

Excellent pitching was shown by Gerald Witt and Chili Williams. Williams was a little wild at first inning, allowing five runs. The Cameron boys rallied in the fifth inning, but the game ended after the sixth inning with the score 10 to 11 in favor of Rosebud. This was the first matched game for the Cameron team playing against the more experienced Rosebud team.

The Rosebud game was five innings of softball between the 13, 14 and 15 year old Cameron and Rosebud players. Brantley pitched excellent ball for the Cameron team. Fine fielding by the Cameron boys allowed only five runs. The game ended with the score 8 to 5 in favor of the Cameron team.

Only one game was played at the City Park Friday night. This was a softball game between boys ages 8 through 12.

THE LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOHER WILLING TO TAKE ON JOB OF FINDING OUT WHY PEOPLE TIRE WHEN THEY WORK

Editor's note: The Little River Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm at Marlow has been affected by the summer heat, his letter this week implies.

Dear editar:

With the world in the shape it is, with unsolved problems stretchin out from here to Korea and back again, the drouth, inflation, Russia, etc., it's odd how some people find time to spend energy and money on some minor problems, but I was readin in a newspaper last night which I picked up in the bank in town that mornin and will sign a note for if required to where a group of scientists up in New York have been conductin lengthy studies into the problem of why people get tired while workin.

Usin highly scientific instruments and complicated charts and figures, they've been goin into factories and checkin on workers, tryin to find out why they get tired. At last report, they were still workin on the problem and ain't ready yet to come out with the answer.

I don't want to interfere with anybody else's racket, but I will be glad to conduct such a scientific survey out here on my Johnson grass farm for a much smaller fee than those scientists are chargin. Further more, it won't require any expensive layout for a laboratory, equipment, or scientific measurin devices.

I already got all the equipment necessary out here, consistin of a tractor and an unplowed field, not to mention a hoe, plenty of weeds in the garden, an axe, saggin fences, saggin gates un-patched roof, stuck windows, rickety steps, etc.

All I ask to be furnished is somebody to examine while he works. I'll figure out a system where he can swing me on the front porch in his rounds of work every hour, and will guarantee to come up with the correct answer.

The reason I know I will come up with the right answer is that I already know it. I know why people get tired while they're workin. I ain't gonna come right out and lay the facts bare yet, but after years of testin myself I believe I have figured out the answer.

And after I get the facts established, I will then back off and let science figure out a deeper problem, which is why, once you get tired of workin, you stay that way. I don't want science to remedy this feelin, I've had it for years and find it agrees with me. All of why a man is entitled to stay tired if he wants to. It'd be a handy thing to hand to people on a written sheet of paper when they come up and kick you on the foot while you're restin under a shade tree in the summer time.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

TEXAN PARADE

DENOMINATIONAL BICKERING ON DECREASE IN TEXAS

It is pleasing to see so much cooperation and friendliness among the religious denominations in Texas. It has not always been that way.

The Baptists and Methodists were particularly strong rivals in the early days. One Baptist clergyman, conscious of a few Methodists in his congregation, gave an object lesson on the creation of the world: "God made the world, one-fourth land and three-fourths water, no doubt having baptism in view when he made it."

This warning was written to a new rider of the Georgetown circuit: "Methodism is established there. Here, on the contrary, the prowling Wolves of Campbellism, Drunkardism, and Devilism, of every grade, are ready to devour the sheep."

A later letter, dated 1854, spoke more optimistically of Methodist progress: "Methodism received a fresh impetus, and I think it is so well established that nothing can move it now—not even the combined power of the Baptist and the Devil."

A zealous foot-washing Baptist, on a train, tried to distract a Methodist bishop from preparation of a sermon by engaging him in conversation on doctrinal points. Not finding the bishop particularly responsive, he attempted to needle him mildly on his denomination's scant use of water:

"We believe in foot-washing in our church," said the Baptist. "Do you?"

"My dear sir, we not only believe in it, we insist upon it," replied the bishop, turning to the task of completing his sermon.

One elderly Methodist sister had the shock of her religious life when her daughter joined the Baptist church. She explained the act of her erring daughter to her neighbors: "She's left the Army of the Lord and joined the Navy."

And there is the old one about the Negro—a member of the Baptist church—who was given a litter of puppies by a Methodist neighbor. Before he left with them the Methodist minister appeared, and to make conversation with the darkey, he asked: "What denomination are they?"

"Deys Methodist dogs," he answered.

A week later the preacher chanced by the Negro's place, and seeing the pups running around in his yard asked him again what denomination they belonged to.

"Deys Baptist dogs."

"But you told me last week they were Methodist pups."

"But we didn't have dar eyes open den."

A Baptist lady paid a visit to her daughter who had recently married an Episcopalian. Though she accompanied the couple to their church on Sunday, she resolutely refused to join in the singing of the hymns.

After the service the daughter asked: "Why didn't you sing with us? I know how proud you are of your voice."

"I just couldn't bring myself to do it," the mother confessed and then blurted: "I'm on another network."

Detailed Maps Of Farms Made In Conservation Survey

Soil conservation surveys have recently been completed on farms owned by Adolph Kamenisky, John Kamenisky, Theo Fuchs, Rollan J. Carr, Joe Hollas and David Bryan. These farmers are cooperators with the Central Texas Soil Conservation District and are working toward a complete and coordinated soil and water conservation plan for their farms.

These soils surveys are made by Leroy Werchen, soil scientist working with Taylor and Central Texas Soil Conservation Districts and are conducted for use by the farmer and conservation planners in working up a sound conservation program for each acre of their land.

A detailed map is made of the entire farm, showing such physical characteristics of the land as its texture, depth, permability, slope, and amount of erosion that has taken place. From these characteristics, the capabilities and the needs of the land can be determined.

It is an objective of the local conservation districts and the U. S. Department of Agriculture to work together in getting all of the land mapped. These maps will serve not only as a tool in conservation planning but also to furnish a land inventory of all the land in the United States, showing the capabilities and the needs of the land.

Mrs. Antonia Skalik, and Miss Jessie Bullock of Milano were admitted July 15 to St Edward Hospital for medical treatment.

MILAM COUNTY COTTON INSECT SITUATION

By J. D. Moore, County Agent

Boll worms continue to damage the younger cotton throughout Milam County. The March and early April planted cotton seems to be pretty well made and is beginning to open. Heavy boll weevil infestation has occurred during the past 7 days. The cotton poisons used to control the bollworms, namely: 2-1 (toxephene-DDT) 2-1 (BHC-DDT) sprays and the 3-10-40 and 3-5-40 dust are also effective controls for the boll weevil. Farmers are advised to poison the late planted cotton until a crop is set on the plants and the insects are checked. Under most conditions, 2 to 3 applications of poison are necessary to break the life cycle of the insects and show good results. Milam County could gin the first bale by July 25 however, it is not likely to be picked before the last week in July.

SP's as busy as the proverbial bee

You can readily understand why when you consider the bustling territory we serve . . . our 8-state "Golden Empire" has had an industrial production increase of 372% since 1939 . . . the rest of the country increased only 257%.

Last year Southern Pacific carried a volume of over 40,000,000,000 freight ton miles. This total tonnage was more than a billion ton miles above the previous high record in the war year 1944. And, too, last year more than 560 industries producing diversified carload traffic were established or expanded at locations along our 13,500 miles of railroad line.

Southern Pacific's ability to continue to handle efficiently the greatly increased demands of our shippers reflects the hundreds of millions of dollars spent for improvements in recent years. For example, since 1945, we've ordered or placed in operation 679 new diesel locomotives to advance our motive power program. We've ordered or placed in operation 40,000 new freight cars . . . installed radio communication in train and yard operations. We've installed a mechanized system for reporting day to day movement of freight cars, utilizing teletype and punch card machines, so that our shippers may be kept advised as to the exact location of their consignments. Giant pushbutton controlled classification yards have been built and others are under construction or planned so that shipments can move through metropolitan terminals faster.

All these improvements and a multitude of others now in the planning stage fit into Southern Pacific's long-range plan to stay abreast of the development of our service area . . . and facilitate the defense effort . . . that's why SP stays as busy as the proverbial bee.

Col. Williams, 110, Takes First Plane Ride on Thursday

Bryan.—Walter Williams, 110-year-old Confederate Army veteran from Franklin, took his first airplane ride in Bryan Thursday morning.

Williams stayed up 30 minutes and as the plane touched the ground on landing said, "I'd stay up all day if they'd seat me."

The peppery veteran said he didn't see "no difference between going up and staying down."

"My seat was more comfortable than a wheel chair," he added. Williams spends some time in a big wheel chair.

As he entered the plane for the flight, Williams' 79-year-old wife kissed him goodby. "Let me kiss you, Daddy," she said. "This might be the last time I'll see you."

U.S.S. Helena Sank Ten Years Ago This Month Near Solomons

The following article is published in memory of Jerry Frank Tomek and other boys who lost their lives fighting for America. Jerry Frank was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tomek of Cameron.

Taken from the "Corpus Christi Caller-Times":

"One of the most important sea battles of World War II, a dramatic duel between U. S. Navy guns and Japanese torpedoes, took place ten years ago this month near the Solomon Islands.

A recounting of the battle was released by the staff public information office of the Naval Air Advanced Training Command in Corpus Christi.

In July, 1943, Guadalcanal and other islands in the southern Solomons were under American control, but enemy convoys, known as the "Tokyo Express", regularly used Kula Gulf as the entrance to a short cut for nightly runs through the island area. the Jap ships carried reinforcements to the enemy.

On July 5, 1943, a task force of cruisers and destroyers under command of Rear Adm. W. L. Ainsworth set out to intercept the Express. Radar sightings revealed shortly after midnight that the enemy force was divided in two groups of apparently five and four destroyers each. The groups were four miles apart, too widely separated for a simultaneous attack.

Adm. Ainsworth decided to blast one group which lay nearer, move on, make a turn and then nail the others on the reverse course.

Opening shots from the cruisers and lead destroyers took the Japs by surprise. The American ships blasted away for five minutes. Just as Adm. Ainsworth ordered his ships to turn to engage the second enemy group, three torpedoes struck the Helena with mortal blows.

Unfortunately, the Helena, which had been firing continuously instead of broadside bursts like most of the other vessels, had used up her supply of flashless powder. She was forced then to use ordinary smokeless powder which lit up the big ship and made her a bright target in the night.

The task force, without pausing despite the disaster, moved in to tackle the remaining Jap destroyers. The biggest was hit and vanished from the radar screen. The others dispersed with the Navy in pursuit.

Victory came at heavy cost, however, because the Helena, torn apart, soon went under. The destroyers Nicholas and Radford returned and proceeded with rescue operations.

Daylight was still hours away and the Helena's crew was scattered over a square mile of oil-covered water. Twice the crescuers were interrupted when enemy vessels reappeared in the vicinity. By daybreak, the two destroyers had pulled 52 officers and 687 men of the Helena from the water. She originally had been manned by 77 officers and 1,100 crewmen. 85 more survivors were picked up by search boats in the morning.

The "Tokyo Express" made no more runs to New Georgia, except by occasional slow barges, and the Jap threat to American positions there had ended."

Target Practice Is Fatal to 12 Year Old Bell County Boy

Delmer Ivey, 12 years old, was accidentally shot to death Sunday afternoon on the front porch of his home in the Summers Mill community near Belton.

He and a friend, John Lisenbe, 14, of near Belton, had just returned from a hunting trip along the Salou River and were then engaged in target practice from the porch. Each was using a .22 calibre rifle.

When they ran out of .22 shells they decided to try out a twenty-gauge shotgun on a post near the porch. The shotgun fired unexpectly, striking Ivey in the right side of his chest. His twin sister, Dean Mae Ivey, witnessed the accidental shot.

Lisenbe carried him to the Ivey car and drove to the Belton Fire Station where aid was summoned, but Ivey was already dead. Doctors at Sewell Hospital who examined the boy said that death had been almost instantaneous.

Lisenbe is being treated for shock at the hospital.

Justice of the Peace A. E. Warren returned a verdict of accidental death.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Monday in Eads Chapel, with Rev. James Basden officiating. Burial was in Sunshine Cemetery near Holland.

The youth is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Plez Ivey; two brothers, George and Billy Wayne Ivey; three sisters, Mrs. Jack Gotts, Rosalie and Dean Mae Ivey, all of Belton; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Campbell of Temple.

Mrs. Jerry Hughes of Holland spent last week with her sister, Mrs. Gus Evans, Sr.

Leaf Miners In Cotton

By J. D. Moore, County Agent

A good many farmers throughout Milam County have asked what caused the penciled like brown stripes running through the lower leaves of their cotton plants. The cotton leaves are infested with a little insect called leaf miner. These miners are the larvae stage of a fly.

We do not think, however, that the infestations are doing enough damage to warrant a separate application of insecticides for their control. Good controls have been obtained by the use of a 2% parathion dust or about ¼ lb. of technical parathion in a spray per acre.

It is very probable that some control will come as a result of insecticides already applied to control other insects. It is also common for beneficial insects to reduce the leaf miners in many instances. This article was contributed as an educational service.

Sacrifice—For What?

It breaks the heart of a mother
For her son to die in vain.
A selfish world will soon forget
His agonk and pain.
She feels if his brave sacrifice
Has brought lasting peace on earth,
Then she is proud he answered the call
Of the country of his birth.
But if his life was given for naught
And Peace is a far-off dream,
Her heart grows sadder than before
When he gave his all, supreme!

WORMS IN MAIZE

By J. D. Moore, County Agent

Worms very similar to the corn ear worm and the cotton boll worm have done some damage to the late planted maize. These reports come from several communities. Some farmers are poisoning their maize to control the worms. This can be done by applying about the same insecticides used to control the boll worms in cotton. Most of the worm damage is done to the plant down inside the shoot. (This is where the head comes out). Farmers are advised to apply the poison directly over the row and above the plants for best results.

A new guide for controlling insects on corn, sorghum, small grains and grasses is available at the County Agent's office.

Method of Making Emergency Livestock Loans Is Explained

Methods of making emergency livestock loans to farmers and cattlemen who need credit to buy feed and pay operating expenses were outlined today by Roy M. Wright County FHA supervisor. The special loans were authorized by Congress in new disaster credit legislation approved recently by President Eisenhower.

This credit will be extended, only to established producers and feeders of beef cattle, sheep and goats, who have a reasonable chance of working out of their difficulties but cannot obtain the funds they need from private or cooperative credit sources. Loans will not be made to enable a man to go into the livestock business or to carry on commercial feed lot operations.

Heaviest demand is expected in the drought-stricken Southwest but loans to cattlemen are not limited to the disaster area.

Application blanks are now available at the local Farmers Home Administration office. All applications will be passed on by special livestock loan committees to be appointed by Secretary Benson.

Loans will be made in amounts of $2,500 and more, at 5 percent interest for periods up to 3 years for the purchase of feed, seed and other operating expenses. They can be renewed if renewal is found to be in the best interest of the farmer and the Government. The loan funds cannot be used to refinance debts the farmers already owe.

When a farmer applies for a livestock loan, his creditors will not be asked subordinate their claims to the Government. However, they will be expected to give standby agreements for a long enough period to enable the farmer to have a reasonable chance of recovery.

The Secretary will set up special loan committees to serve a whole state or a few counties, depending on the demand for this credit. Each committee will consist of at least three local persons having recognized knowledge of the livestock industry. The nearest committee to Milam and Burleson counties will be located at San Antonio, Texas.

Most loan approvals will be handled by the local committees. However, whenever an applicant's total indebtedness would exceed $50,000, final approval will be by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Authority for making livestock loans extends to July 13, 1955.

The legislation passed by Congress also provides a supplemental source of emergency credit for established farmers—not limited to livestock operators—in areas designated by the President as major disaster areas. When the Secretary of Agriculture finds that farmers in these areas have felt the force of an economic disaster—such as a substantial price decline—to the extent they cannot get needed credit from local sources to carry on farming operations, he can authorize loans to meet that need.

Large areas of Texas and Oklahoma and parts of Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico and Arkansas have recently been designated as major disaster areas.

Emergency loans to help farmers hit by economic disaster will be similar to the disaster loans now being made by the Farmers Home Administration to farmers who have suffered production losses from natural disasters as drought, flood and windstorm. New loans will be made only during the period of the emergency. Lending will be handled by the Farmers Home Administration offices. This type credit will be available at 5% interest in those areas designated as major disaster areas.

Milam and Burleson counties have not been designated as being in a major disaster area, therefore this type loan is not available to farmers and ranchers of this area.

Local Florist Goes To Design School At Ft. Worth Convention

Most people go to conventions to have a little fun, but two Cameron florists, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Glass of Glass, the Florist, went to a convention last week to go to school.

A school of design, boasting a faculty of the nation's outstanding floral designers was the feature of the 40th annual convention of the Texas State Florists Association, July 13, 14, and 15 in Fort Worth. More than 1,000 Texas florists attended the statewide meeting.

In addition, Prof. Raul R. Krone of the Department of Horticulture at Michigan State College and L. J. Tolle of the Department of Floriculture at Texas A&M College conducted seminars on various phases of running an efficient flower shop.

Featured as instructors at the design school were floral specialists from New York, Illinois, Georgia, and Texas, who brought the latest ideas in floral design to the convention.

Instructors pointed out that floral arrangements are not hodge-podge affairs but are actually problems in engineering.

They also reported that tradition is being discarded in bridal bouquets and that the old-fashioned bulky bouquet of lily of the valley and white roses is being replaced by the stylized bouquet designed for the individual bride. Pastel colors are replacing the traditional white and many brides are making use of Happiness Roses, a red, velvety flower, in planning their wedding bouquets.

Dues Deductible As Essential Cost

Chamber of Commerce dues are classified by the Federal Government in the same category with salaries, rent and other expenss essential to the operation of business, the Chamber of Commerce office, reminded members this week.

"Since the income tax law states that 'gifts' to the Chamber are not deductible, there has been a great deal of confusion in making out income tax returns,," the office stated.

Dues paid to the organiation are not "gifts," the Chamber office stressed, but are amounts included in the budget to defray projects essential to the advancement of business.

September Draft In Texas Is 1,232 Men; 30 Doctors in August

Austin, Texas.—A September draft quota of 1,232 men was received Monday at state Selective Service headquarters, Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state director, said Tuesday.

The quota is the Texas share of a national call for 23,000 men. The August quota, announced nearly a month ago, is 1,235. The July quota for Texas, now being filled, is 1,286.

General Wakefield said local board quotas to fill the September call should be placed in the mail sometime before the first of August, under present plans.

Also received Monday from national headquarters was an August call for 30 doctors of medicine for the armed forces. This is the biggest call for doctors ever received by state headquarters.

Because of what now appears to be an ample supply of examined and acceptable men, serious consideration is being given at this time not to have any men examined in September, the state draft director said.

Instructions were received with the September call that, where possible, only men 20 years old or older would be inducted. Boards are authorized, however, to fill calls with men under 20, when necessary.

Currently, the number of men under 20 being inducted had dropped. Twenty-four men out of every 100 being inducted so far in July are under 20, as compared to 32 out of every 100 in June.

State Selective Service headquarters Monday also sent its second quarter delinquency report to Washington, showing 758 men of draft age as being delinquent at their local boards. At the end of the first quarter of 1953 a total of 818 men were reported delinquent.

Highway Condition Bulletin Issued Every Two Weeks

Every two weeks a highway road condition bulletin will be issued as a special service to the motoring public, D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer, announced in Austin.

"We are spending a large amount of money for maintenance and reconstruction this year and feel that motorists should be provided with information on the location of these projects for driving conveniences, economy, and safety," he said. Greer explained that these road conditions will be reflected on a small map showing the principal highways with symbols indicating the location and type of construction that would be encountered on various routes. These road condition bulletins,, he continued, will assist motorists in steering clear of construction work and as a result, keep traffic at a minimum through construction areas. This will enable highway maintenance workers to complete a job in a minimum time with a maximum of safety.

Greer concluded that these road condition bulletins are available free in the Highway District Offices and Travel Information Bureaus, or they can be obtained direct by writing the Traffic Services Division of the Highway Department in Austin.

Mrs. R. N. Haddox of Cameron, Mrs. Willie B. Brown of Cameron and Furmon Neal Shuffield of Cameron were admitted July 20 to Newton Memorial Hospital for medical treatment.

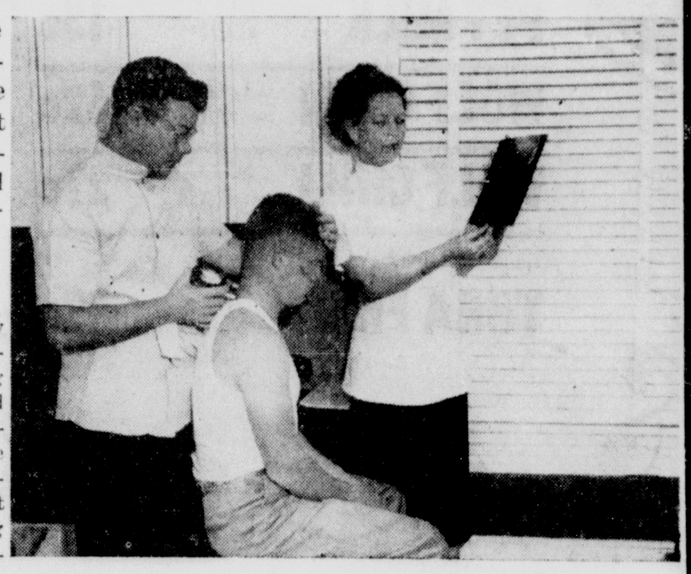
CHIROPRACTIC FOR HEALTH

Right: Dr. J. E. Boyce using nerve testing machine to locate defective nerves. This is only a part of a very careful examination which will find the CAUSE of the patient's trouble.



ASTHMA:

CASE NO. 1442: A little boy of five was brought to a Chiropractic Clinic suffering from Asthma which he had had since birth. Various treatments had failed to do more than relieve each spell. Examination disclosed a vertebra at the top of the spine causing nerve interference and defective energization of the air sacs of the lungs. Corrective adjustments restored the spinal alignment to normal and the Asthma has not returned during the past year.

KIDNEY TROUBLE:

A man, age 32, has been getting treatments for kidney trouble for some time but noticed he was getting no better and nervousness was increasing; was constipated; caught cold easily and just felt low generally, when he visited a Chiropractic Clinic for examination and analysis. The cause was found to be nerve interference causing defective energization of kidneys and digestive tract. Corrective adjustments restored alignment of subluxated spinal bones which removed nerve interference and permitted normal energization. Patient discharged feeling full of pep and without complaints in a few months.

NECK INJURIES

Injuries to the neck are common and, unless stiffness and pain are marked or persistent, most of us are inclined to forget the incident. All too often some damage is done and years later, symptoms appear. Many vital structures are crowded into a tiny space in the neck area and the openings in the vertebrae through which the nerves exit are small. This makes them more vulnerable to pressure and irritation which in turn leads to discomfort in the shoulder, arm, neck or head . . . A single mishap may be responsible but in many instances it is the cumulative effort of several. Months or years after the injury, a clicking sound, soreness or stiffness in the neck may be the first indication . . . Infection, arthritis, ruptured disc hemorrhage and trauma are the most common factors in producing distress . . . Excerpts "How to Keep Well," Chicago Tribune, by O. R. Van Dellen, M. D.

STIFF NECK

Case No. 361. Man 45 years old came to the Boyce Chiropractic Clinic suffering with stiff neck for 3 months. He had read our ads before coming to our clinic. He also suffered with indigestion, gas, bloating, constipation, nervousness, pounding, heart and rheumatic pains. A spinal nerve analysis disclosed defective energization to affected areas. X-ray showed interference with nerve energy. Spinal adjustments removed the cause. Patient is well and happy today because he found the new way to health.

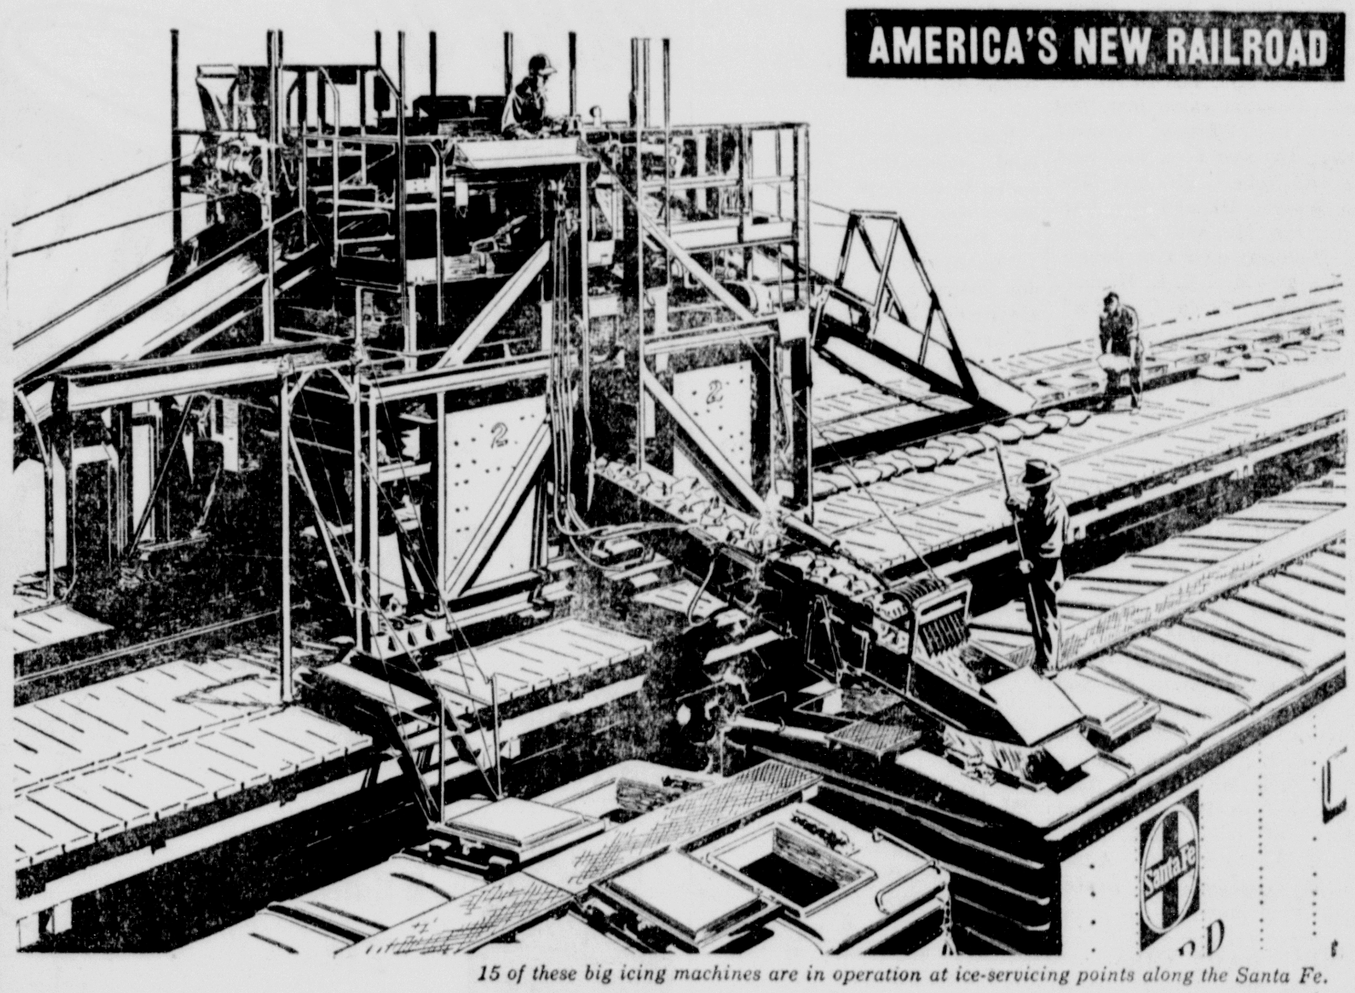
AMERICA'S NEW RAILROAD



15 of these big icing machines are in operation at ice-servicing points along the Santa Fe.

Ever see so much fuss just to chill an orange?

It's the best way there is today to refrigerate a "reefer"—but Santa Fe is developing an even newer and better way to do the job

In 60 seconds flat, the giant ice-crushing machines Santa Fe recently installed can fill the bunkers of a refrigerator car with five tons of ice!

They are the newest and fastest machines for icing cars yet devised.

And Santa Fe "reefers" are the most efficient type of refrigerator cars now on the rails.

These refrigerator cars and icing machines have carried the technique of ice refrigeration to the ultimate of present day knowledge.

WHAT ABOUT TOMORROW?

We can't be sure, BUT—

Santa Fe is now experimenting with a newer way to refrigerate cars automatically for hauling foods which may require temperatures as low as 25° below zero.

30 new experimental refrigerator cars designed by Santa Fe, built in its own shops and each with a capacity of 128,000 pounds of frozen foods, are now being utilized in the movement of frozen foods.

Each of these new cars has its own thermostatically-controlled diesel-driven compressor-type refrigerator unit. It carries 400 gallons of fuel (almost the exact amount Lindbergh used to fly the Atlantic). It can maintain sub-zero temperatures all the way from California to New York.

BENEFITS FELT ALL ALONG THE LINE

All along the line, people and communities feel the benefits of this building new wherever it actually occurs on the Santa Fe—and day-after-day, something new is done to make "America's New Railroad" a little better.

The millions of dollars this newness costs Santa Fe doesn't cost you a single penny in the taxes you pay.

FARM BUREAU—

A silver covered throne held the center of attention on the stage. It stood before a three-paneled screen of cedar branches and was graced by white baskets of rose crepe myrtle on either side. Scenic back and side drops and blue and gold lights helped to create a garden atmosphere.

S. W. McClaren, Jr., director of District 8, pronounced the invocation at the beginning of the evening's program, followed by Dennis Klein, president of the Milam County Farm Bureau, who made the necessary announcements.

Hinton Pruett, county superintendent of schools, was master of ceremonies. After he led the audience in singing "America," he introduced Billy Henderson and Lee Orsag, who sang two numbers, accompanying themselves on a guitar and an electric guitar.

The next two numbers were duets by Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Anthony, accompanied by Max McClaren.

The contestants then entered the stage one at a time to the strains of "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody," played by Max McClaren. When all were on stage, Mr. Pruett asked them questions pertaining to the Farm Bureau.

While the judges were reaching the decision, more musical numbers were played, this time by Joe Fragman, Dwayne Bouley, and Billy Joe Hawkins.

After the judges announced their decision, the Queen assumed her silver throne. She was crowned by Dennis Klin, who placed the gold and silver emblem of her rank upon her head. She received an arm bouquet of red carnations.

Miss Holloway will go to the district contest in Waco in October. This district has 14 counties. The Milam County Bureau will provide her formal wardrobe for this occasion. The district winner will go to the state contest in Mineral Wells and the state winner to the national contest in Chicago.

As gifts from the Farm Bureau, Miss Hanel received a rhinestone necklace, and each of the other contestants received rhinestone scatter pins.

At the conclusion of the evening's program both the audience and program members enjoyed servings of ice cream.

Those who contributed time and materials to make this program possible include Miss Lenora A. Bickett, office manager for the Milam County Farm Bureau, Mrs. M. H. Wimberly, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Dorner, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Prokisch, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Allen, Monroe Dees, W. R. Whitley, William F.
